

I would like to measure the inside and outside temperature using 2 x DS1620 one for outside and the other for inside by connecting the BS board via serial port to PC. But I don't know what the best way is? The drawing below will illustrate what is the idée.

